Selectmen's Meeting

JULY 29, 1986 - by VIRGINIA ARRAL

TOWN RESIDENTS ONLY ALLOWED TO WINDSURF AT NED'S POINT

At a public hearing held last Tuesday, Selectmen agreed to retain their most recent vote and permit only Mattapoisett residents to launch and beach their windsurfing craft at Ned's Point Beach. About 25 persons, some windsurfers and some interested townspeople, attended.

Selectmen Chairman John DeCosta noted signs have not been placed at Ned's Point as yet to allow for tonight's comments. However, signs will now be posted and he hoped word would get to the out-of-town windsurfers of the town's decision.

Following comments from residents and windsurfers, both from town and out-of-town, the Board did agree to continue to discuss the subject during the winter to consider other options. The Selectmen felt that the results of their restriction this year to allow only town residents between July 1 and Labor Day would help guide them in making plans for next season.

A possible solution discussed was to allow out-of-town residents to use Ned's Point Beach by issuing a temporary permit sticker for a fee to help defray costs of posting a police officer at the park.

Peter Underwood, who operates Buzzards Bay surfboard in Marion and instructs windsurfers, expressed his opinion that the sticker would allow the Selectmen, who have by law the legal power to make rules at the park, to keep control on the number of permits issued and to whom they are issued. Underwood said, "When I spoke to several out-of-town windsurfers, they informed me they would be willing to pay a permit fee to use the park beach."

A letter was read into the records from Pat Baggarly of 142 North Street. She wrote, "As one of the Mattapoisett residents who swims at Ned's Point frequently, I have concerns for my safety and the safety of other swimmers because of the windsurfers. Especially on a windy, choppy day (as was the case Friday), I truly feel that a swimmer's head would go unnoticed to a surfer as they go in and out of the beach area. Also, what little beach area there is available to residents, is usually covered with sails and boards. I really am sympathetic to the concerns of the windsurfers, but I do not feel it is safe to allow both swimming and windsurfing in that small area. On Friday (July 25), of the six cars I noticed parked near mine, all six had plates from Rhode Island, Vermont, or New Hampshire."

When a resident commented on the lack of facilities at Ned's Point, Chairman DeCosta cited a severe problem with the way in which the restrooms were treated, both at the Park and at the town wharf, that made it necessary to close the Park facility. "It was only because of the services of 'Mudgie' Tavares and his crew that we have been able to keep the wharf restrooms open." The Board also realizes not having facilities at Ned's Point has created problems, and are in the process of getting estimates on reinstalling the restrooms at the Park. Estimates have been as high as $2,500., DeCosta said.

surfers have been allowed to launch and beach, said, "I don't think it's fair to cut out Marion and Rochester people, as opposed to just the town; we are all like an area with them." The Board agreed to consider this aspect when they review the restriction.

In response to a question from Arthur Blackburn, Selectman Frank Suzan gave a background on how the Board reached its decision to limit the use of Ned's Point Park. Suzan cited numerous complaints on the congested traffic on Ned's Point Road and the 40 foot wide town-owned beach not being large enough for safety reasons for both swimmers and windsurfers. "We cannot move the windsurfers on the rocks, as it's too dangerous. There's no doubt the town is growing in popularity for the increasingly popular sport. I don't think we have enough room for all out-of-towners, especially those that come from out-of-state." Suzan mentioned a recent Sunday when he counted 51 cars at Ned's Point - nine of which had Mattapoisett stickers. Suzan continued, saying originally the Board decided no windsurfing at all at Ned's Point Beach. "We backed off after discussing other options with Paul Lariviere and decided on allowing Mattapoisett residents only from July 1 through Labor Day."

Selectman James Huntoon said the problem has pluses and minuses. The minuses are the swimmers need space and the traffic is getting worse. The pluses are that Ned's Point Park is the cleanest this year he's seen it in a long time. "The windsurfers have a good attitude and have helped keep the place clean. I'm at the Park often during my road running tours through town, and as a beautiful spot in town we have a duty to keep it clean. If we took the windsurfers away from Ned's Point, they will go to Reservation and The Sands area, making the harbor more congested. Seldom do you see sailboats or motor boats around the Point. Before and after those dates, only the more expert windsurfers will be around", explained Huntoon.

Underwood commented "we are looking for a fair solution.". Even with just Mattapoisett residents windsurfing there is a problem for the safety of swimmers. He recommended a roped off section where windsurfers can stop before reaching the swimmers, than walk in to the beach. He said this has worked in Newport and other beaches where these is a conflict between swimmers and windsurfers. Some areas give windsurfers a narrow course in which to operate in and out. A windsurfer cannot go over a rope without tripping. He noted that in Falmouth, windsurfing is allowed in the middle of May when there is no swimming. He added that the problem is not going away -- this is a popular, safe sport and good exercise. At the conclusion of the hearing, Underwood said he was comfortable with the decision and that it is a good compromise.

An admitted out-of-town windsurfer said he paid a total of $4,400 in taxes to other towns in this state, and he felt it is his privilege to use the Massachusetts waters of Buzzards Bay.

Another interested speaker remarked that maybe we should consider forming a harbor study commission as was recommended at the annual town meeting. Huntoon said "we plan to check this and presently plan to have aerial photos taken of the harbor and are working with the Harbormaster on any further action." Huntoon added that Mattapoisett has the ability to survive. Over the years, considering the financial constraints, "we've managed to update things like the Town Hall and the wharf. We are going to have to consider spending money to repair the restrooms to retain the resources we have."

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Prouty of Ned's Point Road expressed concern whether all activities would be restricted, such as the picnic area or "do you mean just windsurfers?" They were told just windsurfing for now. Mr. Prouty felt management of the Park is very important, but that it is better now than it has been in the past. "We are summer residents and we love this town. We have no objection to the windsurfers, but we do object to the motorcycle gangs." He recommended charging a fee for the summer for a guard at the park.

In concluding remarks, Selectmen said they have an open door policy to those who want to be heard. They urged any group

SIGNED DEED PAPERS on the Deniz property (67 Church Street) with the condition that the purchase sale agreement must be executed by August 8th. Robert G. Moore, attorney for Mrs. Aurisis (Deniz) Gomes, was present and requested a postponement from the scheduled signing date of July 30th because Mr. John M. Constantion of Providence, the interpreter for Mrs. Gomes, is out-of-town and unavailable.

Town Counsel Donald J. Fleming agreed on the new date and also agreed to the purchase-sale agreement signing on Monday, July 29th, with the prescribed conditions.

When the legal papers are all signed, the town officials hope to utilize the remaining property owned by the town for consideration as a site for a new police station.

EXPRESSED dissatisfaction with the lack of courteous action of the Hobie Cat Group, especially with Steven Ruel who failed to notify the Selectmen's office the date of the Hobie Cat Race Day held this past weekend.

Selectman Frank Suzan noted the group failed to notify either Reservation Golf Club or Harbormaster Steven Mach. The Harbormaster told Selectmen he didn't know the race was being held until the day before it happened, nor did they coordinate the event with him. Mach said there have been some problems with the boats tying up at the town float. Suzan said, "I don't think a function of this magnitude should operate without coming here first."

Selectmen Chairman John DeCosta said a letter will be sent to Ruel, spokesman for the group, saying the group cannot use any town property without first coming to this office. The board agreed it is only courteous to let them know ahead of time. "Tonight we are having a hearing on wind-surfers with some out-of-towners, and now the Hobie Cat owners are mostly out-of-towners and they failed to notify us", Selectman James Huntoon said. "We have never denied them in previous years, and it's only fair they should check with us first", Huntoon added.

Selectmen agreed a letter will be sent to the owner of 49 Main Street, Mrs. Loleta Eubanks, 12 Shady Oak Lane, and a letter to Todd Eubanks, who resides at 49 Main Street, directing them to cease and desist allowing people to live in the trailer. A town by-law does not permit more than a two-week use of a trailer, and then only with a permit from the Selectmen's office. It was noted no permit has been obtained by the Eubanks.

RECEIVED TWO LETTERS from land owners at The Cedars objecting to the manner in which Mr. Justin Morreale of 1 Seamarsh Way is obstructing the roadway and access to the beach to those living in The Cedars, some of whom are elderly and cannot walk to the beach but need to take their cars.

Michale Steele, 6 Pine Street, who has used this road to the beach for 45 years, and E. Everett Eldridge, who has owned property at The Cedars since 1951, asked the Board's assistance in having Mr. Morreale remove the posts and rope across the road obstructing passage to the beach and request he restrict the number of cars, boat trailers and boats parked in the roadway. Both wrote that they had contributed

We feel we can do better! We have examples of what communities can do (Dartmouth and Marion) when they place the well-being of their children a priority. Let's keep Mattapoisett Special -- Help improve the playground.

Our next meeting will occur on Thursday, August 7th, at 7:30 p.m. in the Conference Room of the Town Hall. All concerned adults are welcome and invited to attend.

Two priorities will be addressed at this meeting - fund-raising and design work. We are attempting to improve the playground and intend to build new pieces and integrate with what we presently have.

WALKING TOUR HUGE SUCCESS

The threat of rain in no way damaged the enthusiasm of the 100 or more people who participated in the Historic Walking Tour of Mattapoisett Village last Tuesday evening. Francis Rowland led a most informative and interesting tour of that portion of the village bounded by Church, Main, in the spring, summer and fall. It takes a lot of abuse with 3 children, 3 cats and a dog. So, when we decorated it we needed to take the "abuse factor" into consideration. The wicker furniture came from a lovely woman's basement. We painted it white. The dhurrie rugs (great because you can flip them over) came from a shop in Newport - on sale, of course. And for our windows (15 of them!) and slipcovers we chose coordinated 100% cotton print fabrics by Barrows. Excellent because they offer a huge selection of fabrics in great colors (we chose rose) at a reasonable price.

We live in our porch ...

We offer Barrows fabrics as well as many other fabric lines. We can help you decorate any room in your home taking your "abuse factors" and budget into consideration.

AUGUST BUSINESS/INDUSTRY EXHIBIT

The August exhibit at the Museum and Carriage House highlights Mattapoisett's businesses and industries - past and present.

One of the early industries was, of course, shipbuilding. Because most of the shipbuilding in our town took place prior to the Civil War, there is little in the way of photographs showing actual shipbuilding in progress. (Photography did not make its appearance until the Civil War.) We do, however, have records, photographs of paintings and some of actual ships and models.

Sloops and small schooners were built in Mattapoisett as early as 1740. From Cannon's yard at Ship Street to the Meiggs yard at Stackpole's, the shoreline was practically one continuous shipyard.

The first shipbuilding in Mattapoisett took place about 1700 at Brandt Island Cove. Trading sloops plied the trade on Buzzards Bay carrying cord wood, fence rails, posts, timber, shingles and barrels of tar and charcoal.

It was around 1750 when the first professional shipbuilders came and started establishing shipyards along the waterfront between the foot of Pearl and Ship's Street. With this development, the center of Mattapoisett shifted from Old Hammond-town to "ye lower New Town" along the waterfront. In the busiest period seven ships were going up at one time, employing 275 workmen. It was estimated that in the century and a half of shipbuilding nearly 500 vessels were built at Mattapoisett.

Paint shops, bake shops and chandlers lined the lower streets of the village; riggers were busy in the sail lofts, and draftsmen were laying out plans in the shop chambers.

Gideon Barstow came from Scituate in 1765 to establish his yard. Abner Pease had his yard at Pease's Point on the Aucoot Cove side, and Washington Gifford built on the Mattapoisett River.

Part of what makes Mattapoisett special is that many of the houses that were built for the workers and owners and ship's captains of the early 1800s and before still stand and are being lived in and enjoyed today.

The entrance to Industrial Park Drive should be well marked - especially on North Street for cars headed north before you get to the entrance. Many cars when they get by any buildings have a tendency to speed. At present, going north, there are no markings as you approach the turn-off to the Park.

Many times, when I'm getting ready to turn off North Street into the Park Drive, I'll have my turn flashers going and step on my brake light, and still some gung-ho pip-squeak will be almost riding my bumper.

When you exit the Drive to go south on North Street you have to contend with fast moving cars coming up North Street. Someone has cut the brush at an angle up to the light pole that has a firebox on it to give some view, but the width should be

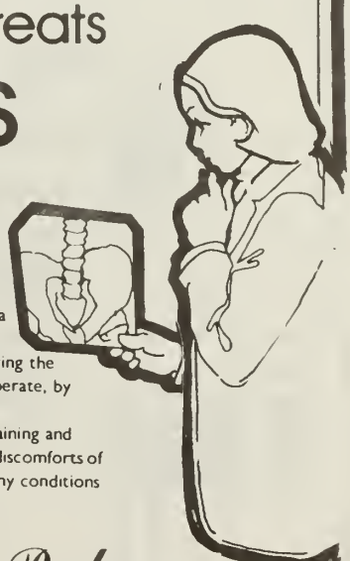
Here's how Chiropractic treats
Arthritis



Arthritis is an acute or chronic inflammation of one or more of the joints of the body. The inflammation may involve some or all of the structures entering in the formation of the joint—the bones, the cartilage, the membranes, muscles, etc.

Chiropractic approaches arthritis from a cause standpoint. It is directed to the restoration of normal nerve function; allowing the natural healing processes of the body to operate, by means of spinal adjustments.

Your doctor of chiropractic has the training and experience to treat arthritis and relieve the discomforts of the condition. Under chiropractic care, many conditions can be relieved.

THE AUGUST BIRTHSTONE
PERIDOT

For the Romantic ... the PERIDOT, a transparent gem stone of a rich olive green.

Peridots recently have been in the midst of a new upsurge in popularity, although this gem has been known for centuries. Some of the finest Peridot gem stones have been treasured by Cathedrals in Europe, ever since the Crusaders brought them home from the shores of the Red Sea. Some especially fine ones are those belonging to the Cathedral of Cologne.

When set in gold, the Peridot is said to achieve its greatest power. It is credited with repelling all night-time terrors for the frightened woman who wears it. One rhyme warns that she who was born in August and fails to wear a Peridot will "live unloved and alone."

The deepest colored Peridot gems come from St. John's Island in the Red Sea. Burma provides some gems of fine quality; a few very small stones are found in Arizona, New Mexico and Hawaii, while lighter-colored stones come from Queensland, Australia. Some truly "Heaven-Sent" Peridots have been found in Meteorites.

While the Peridot may vary in the deepness of shades, all will be Green. It is one of the few gems that comes in only one color.

of choking victims and applied the Heimlich Maneuver.

"People should be prepared to deal with choking emergencies and the Heimlich Maneuver is easy to learn," said Dorothy Allen, Manager of Health Promotion for Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Massachusetts. "Choking can happen to anyone at any time and we are encouraging Massachusetts residents to learn the Heimlich Maneuver to help prevent choking deaths."

As part of its Life Saver program, Blue Cross and Blue Shield has documented more than 300 cases in which the lives of residents were saved through the use of the Heimlich Maneuver.

Massachusetts residents are asked to notify the Health Promotion Department at Blue Cross and Blue Shield should they become aware of a Life Saver incident.

Wallet-sizes "Life-Saver" instruction cards which show how to apply the Heimlich Maneuver are available free of charge from Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Massachusetts. To obtain your card, send a self-addressed stamped envelope to the Health Promotion Department, Blue Cross and Blue Shield, 100 Summer Street, Boston, MA. 02110.

Yankee Intern Program, an innovative program established in 1982 which matches preservation students with non-profit organizations carrying out projects involving historic sites or buildings. The program is sponsored by Yankee Publishing Inc., publishers of Yankee Magazine, and the Northeast Regional Office of the National Trust for Historic Preservation. The National Trust is a private, non-profit organization chartered by Congress in 1949 to encourage public participation in the preservation of sites, buildings, and objects significant in American history and culture.

Bryan VanSweden noted recently, "The Yankee Intern Program provides an excellent opportunity for students like myself to gain experience in the field of historic preservation. This summer I have the chance to put my education into practice at "Fairview" with on-site research dealing with an architecturally and historically important building." Mr. VanSweden continued, "It should also help out when I start looking for a permanent position next year." Mr. VanSweden is presently a graduate student in the Historic Preservation Program at the University of Vermont. The University's program is directed by Chester Lieba.

In addition to writing the history of "Fairview" and its occupants, Mr. VanSweden will examine the present physical condition of the building. His comprehensive report will serve as a guide for "Fairview's" renovation.

Richard Taylor, Jr., Swain's Director of Facilities, Planning and Operations, said, "Bryan's work on 'Fairview's' history and condition will prove invaluable in preparing a conservation plan and a restoration fund drive. Having Bryan on staff this summer has allowed the College to fully assess 'Fairview's' needs much sooner than would have otherwise been possible."

Bryan VanSweden's report in addition to being coordination with a slide presentation will be used to help develop a fund-raising strategy for the aging residence hall. Philip Cryan Marshall, the new Director of Swain's Architectural Artisanry Program, said, "Working with Bryan has contributed to Swain's appreciation of the mutual benefits the Yankee Intern Protram can impart to intern and sponsor alike. This type of activity underscores Swain's conviction that professional training opportunities, whether through the Yankee Intern Program or our Architectural Artisanry Program, are a critical component of academic education programs."

"Fairview", located at 106 Washington Street in New Bedford, was constructed in 1845 by Henry Howland Crapo, an important figure in the City's history. Mr. Crapo worked as a surveyor, accountant, auctioneer and in 1835 was elected TownClerk, Treasurer and Tax Collector. "Fairview" was the site of the Wasemequia Nursery where Henry Howland Crapo grew imported and rare fruit trees and flowers. In the 1850s he became deeply involved with land transactions in Michigan and subsequently moved there in 1858. He quickly established himself as a major influence in the lumber in-

His son, William Wallace Crapo, remained in New Bedford where he practiced law. In 1874 he was elected to the first of four terms in Congress. Peggi Medeiros, Public Relations Coordinator for the College, has been supervising Bryan VanSweden's historical research. She said, "All of us at the Swain School of Design are delighted to have Bryan with us this summer and are very grateful to the Yankee Intern Program for making it possible. It is a real luxury to have someone with Bryan's skills to research 'Fairview'. Although we were familiar with bits and pieces of the house's history, Bryan has been making discoveries that have excited us all."

Bryan VanSweden has discovered, for example, that during the 1860s Crapo rented the house to John H. Perry, Mayor of New Bedford, in 1866 and 1867. In addition his study of Governor Crapo's personal papers has turned up specifications for paint colors in the house and details of its construction.

State Deputy Walter L. Almond of Belmont, the newly elected leader of the over 56,000 members of the Knights of Columbus in Massachusetts, recently conducted a two-day conference at the Newton Marriott Hotel for over 450 grand knights and local council officers. Among those attending the conference from Damien Council in Mattapoisett were Grand Knight Rev. Roy J. Yurco, SS.CC. and District Deputy John Amaral. They thought the conference was very helpful in that it gave

Lloyd Center

The Paskamansett River bears witness to the ravages of last fall's Hurricane Gloris as fallen trees block passage along many sections of the river. Under the direction of Dartmouth Executive Secretary Mike Gagne, a major effort was made to clear trees, logs and brush along the river from Friends Academy to the bridge at Russells Mills Road this past spring. On August 10th the Lloyd Center will continue this project. We will meet at the Gidley School parking lot (south side of building) at 9:00 and then proceed to the canoe launching sites. Several Lloyd Center staff members, including interns who are involved in research projects on the river, will provide a background of natural history information, so that the trip will not be all work and no play. The Center has limited number of spaces in its canoes, but even if you plan to bring your own canoe, pre-registration is required. There is no fee for this excursion. It would be helfpul if people were to bring their own saws or clippers.

For those who are unfamiliar with this beautiful river, this would be an excellent opportunity to explore one of the most undisturbed areas in Dartmouth. The wide floodplain which is now in bloom with a dazzling array of wildflowers has discouraged development along its banks. Swamp white oaks with trunks three to four feet in diameter attest to the unspoiled beauty essentially unchanged since pre-European settlement.

A couple of cautionary remarks are in order. There will be several portages across fallen logs and brush, as well as stops to do the requisite cutting, therefore canoes will get wet inside. Cameras, lunches, water, etc. should be carried in plastic bags. Also, old sneakers are recommended instead of boots. Insects may be a problem if there is no breeze, so repellant is recommended. Pet Care Volunteers Needed

MSPCA SEEKS VOLUNTEERS TO TEACH PROPER PET CARE TO PRE-SCHOOLERS

The Massachusetts Society of the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals (MSPCA) has announced a need for volunteers to teach a pet care lesson at local nursery schools one morning a week for six months starting this fall. A one-day training course and educational materials will be provided to the volunteers by MSPCA humane education specialists.

Through a lively lesson combining a story, a flannel board presentation and puppetry, volunteers will teach pet care and owner responsibility to local pre-schoolers. Qualifications include the ability to present the lesson in an entertaining manner and a basic understanding of dog and cat behavior.

The MSPCA needs volunteers to bring humane education to communities throughout the state. Other volunteer opportunities are also available.

The MSPCA is a non-profit charitable organization supported entirely by voluntary donations and dedicated to the promotion of animal welfare.

Persons interested in becoming an MSPCA volunteer can call Barbara Easterday,

Growing Perennials

PLYMOUTH COUNTY COOPERATIVE EXTENSION SERVICE

In the past few years an increased number of people have become interested in growing perennials, reports Deborah C. Swanson, 4-H & Home Horticulture Agent at the Plymouth County Cooperative Extension program in Hanson.

People grow perennials for such reasons as: "they come up every year", "there are so many colors, shapes, and sizes to choose from", and "they remind me of the flowers my grandmother used to grow". For whatever reasons you decide to grow these beautiful plants, don't forget some basics for success in your perennial garden.

WATERING: Do not rely on summer rainfall to keep your flower beds watered. Plan to irrigate them from the beginning. Correct watering can make the difference between a good flower display and a poor one. Water on a regular achedule. Water perennials throughout the growing season, particularly during dry weather. Allow the water to penetrate deeply into the soil. Never water by hand - it requires too much time to do a thorough job and it always tears up the soil structure and washes away the beds. When you water, moisten the entire bed thoroughly, but do not water so heavily that the soil becomes soggy. Water again when the soil is dry to touch and the tips of the plants wilt slightly at midday. A soaker hose is excellent for watering beds.

Water from the soaker hose seeps directly into the soil without waste. The slow-moving water does not disturb the soil or reduce its capacity to absorb water.

The least effective method for watering is with a hand-held nozzle. Watering with a nozzle has all the objections of watering with a rotating sprinkler. In addition, gardeners seldom are patient enough to do a thorough job of watering with a nozzle, not enough water is applied, and the water that is applied usually is poorly distributed over the bed.

It is difficult to water plants in bloom. The flowers tend to rot if they catch and hold water. Water anytime during the day, even in bright sunlight, but water the soil thoroughly. If possible water in the early part of the day; this will allow plenty of time for the flowers and foliage to dry before night. Night watering increases the chances of disease.

MULCHING: Mulch gives an orderly look to the garden, cuts down on weeds and weeding labor, and adds organic matter to the soil. Mulch with peat moss, salt hay, pine bark, pine needles, or wood chips. Select an organic material that will decompose slowly, that will allow water to penetrate to the soil below, and that adds a neutral color to the soil. Spread mulch over the whole bed, 2 inches deep. Spread before the plants have made a great deal of growth. Water the mulch into place (dry mulches prevent water penetration). All mulches require care to keep them attractive - litter is very noticeable.

Mulch during both summer and winter. Mulch during the summer to: retard water loss, prevent soil baking and cracking, hold down weeds, prevent soil splashing when watering. Mulch during the winter to: protect newly planted perennials, protect less hardy plants.

Be careful with winter mulching; it can do more harm than good. Apply mulch around the plants only after the soil temperature has gone down - usually in the late fall, after several killing frosts. If the winter mulch is applied too early, the warmth from the soil will cause new growth to start. Severe damage to the plant can result from new growth being frozen back. The best winter mulch is snow - if the bed has good drainage. A thin layer of peat moss is sufficient for a winter mulch. Keep winter mulch loose. It must be well drained and have good air circulation to keep the plants from rotting. Screen winter-mulched plants from the wind. Remove the winter mulch as soon as growth starts in the spring. If you don't the new growth will develop abnormally - have long, gangly stems and insufficient chlorophyll. If you have trouble carrying a particular plant over the winter, a mulch can help.

FERTILIZING: You must regularly fertilize the planting bed to keep it fertile. Extensive growing time, as required for perennials, robs the soil of its natural fertility. Do not fertilize perennials heavily with inorganic fertilizers. A light fertilization program gives a continuous supply of nutrients to produce plants that are easier to train or support on stakes and plants that do not have foliage so dense it interferes with air circulation and has difficulty drying. If your soil is highly organic - has lots of peat moss or compost in it - you can fertilize with 5-10-5. Put little rings of fertilizer around each plant in early spring (March). Repeat about 6 weeks later, and again 6 weeks after that. This should be enough to carry plants through the summer.

Always water the bed after applying fertilizer. This will wash the fertilizer off the foliage and prevent fertilizer burn. It will also make the fertilizer available to the plant immediately. Until the fertilizer enters the soil - regardless of how long it has been on the surface of the soil - it is not available to the plant. Establish a fertilization program, and fertilize right along, a little at a time.

CULTIVATING: After plants are set out or are thinned, cultivate only to break crusts on the surface of the soil. When the plants begin to grow, stop cultivating. Pull weeds by hand in limited areas and frequently. As plants grow, feeder roots spread out between them; cultivation is likely to injure these roots. In addition, cultivation stirs the soil and uncovers weed seeds that then germinate.

ence of summer more than overflowing bins and baskets of fresh, golden peaches at roadside stands and supermarkets.

The sunny summer color and luscious, aromatic flavor of peaches have earned it the affectionate nickname of the "Queen of Fruits". No other summer fruit is more versatile, nutritious and naturally sweet and delicious than the peach. A good source of natural fiber, the peach is also a delight for those concerned about the matter of healthy diet and nutrition.

One medium-sized peach contains about 38 calories; it boasts a negligible fat content and it's sodium free. Peaches have fewer calories than either apples or pears and are an excellent source of Vitamin A and C, iron, calcium and potassium.

The National Peach Council offers these tips on buying and storing peaches, as well as a quick, tasty recipe.

Look for peaches that are well-shaped with a creamy or golden background or undertone. The red blush of peaches is an indicator of its variety, not its ripeness.

Do select peaches that are firm to the touch, not hard.

Avoid peaches that have a green undertone; these won't ripen properly. Also avoid any hard, dull, bruised or wrinkled fruit.

To ripen, store peaches at room temperature away from sunlight in a bowl or in a closed paper bag. A well-defined crease and "peachy" aroma indicate ripeness.

Ripe peaches are ready to eat out-of-hand, include in any meals or store immediately in the refrigerator for later use. Peaches can usually be refrigerated for up to two weeks.

To peel peaches, use the tomato method. Place peaches in boiling water, transfer to a bowl of cold water. The skin will peel right off.

Keep these equivalents in mind when buying peaches: 3 or 4 medium peaches equal

Money Management

FROM SOCIETY OF CERTIFIED PUBLIC ACCOUNTANTS, INC.

HOW TO HELP SUPPORT AN AGING PARENT

Caring for elderly parents need not be difficult. By assessing your parent's finances, sharing responsibility with other family members, and taking advantage of tax breaks, the Massachusetts Society of Certified Public Accountants says you can do much to provide a comfortable environment for aging parents without straining your own finances.

Start by reviewing your parent's budget. Be certain the budget is realistic and lists all items that require regular payments as well as all anticipated expenses. If support is needed, see if money can be set aside to help pay for it. Don't forget Social Security as a potential source of funds.

Costs for support can be high. Injuries or illnesses, after all, could reduce an aging parent's assets. A nursing home can cost $100. a day or more.

To prepare for those and other expenses, you should evaluate your parent's finances and match his or her assets against the costs of medical or nursing home care. When you know how much your parent might contribute to his or her own support, you are better able to judge how much support others may have to furnish. Then, you can start planning ways to raise the money.

Consider looking into nursing home insurance. If your parent must remain in a home for an extended time, the insurance covers a portion of the expenses.

If you and your parent decide that Medicaid is the only solution for meeting nursing home costs, consider setting up a trust whereby your parents surrender rights to the assets placed in it. Remember, Medicaid applications could be denied if a person's assets are transferred to their children or to a trust within two years of application.

Another route is for you to provide income to your aging parent through trusts or loans of your own. You can establish a trust naming your parent as beneficiary. The income earned belongs to your parent, who will probably be in a lower tax bracket than you. Before you establish a trust, consider your own need to make sure you can afford the cost. A CPA can help you establish a trust and keep you abreast of possible tax law changes.

If you provide more than half of your parent's support (housing, food, clothing, medical and dental), you get a $1,080 tax exemption. For example, if you pay $4,000 a year for the care of a parent, and your parent gets an additional $3,600 a year from Social Security and all other sources of income, you get the dependent tax deduction. However, for you to be eligible, the dependent parent cannot receive $1,080 or more a year of taxable gross income.

your aging parent with your brothers or sisters, you could still get a tax break. To claim the deduction, you must contribute more than 10 percent of the total support costs and meet certain other requirements. In addition, all of (those providing more than 10 percent) must agree -- in writing -- who will claim the tax exemption for that year. Someone else can claim the deduction the following year.

Be sure your parent applies for all the tax benefits he or she is entitled to, including the tax credit for the elderly. If your parent is aged 65 or older, and has a low income, he or she may receive a tax credit of up to $750. A couple aged 65 or over could receive a maximum credit of $1,125.

Should your parent be disabled and unable to care for him or herself, you may qualify for a tax credit if you hire someone to provide care while you work. The Child and Dependent Care tax credit can be applied to your parent's care if you are single and must work or you are married and both you and your spouse work. Depending on your adjusted gross income, you may get a tax credit of up to 30 percent of the costs of such care. The maximum credit is $720. for that one parent and $1,440. if you are caring for two or more. As income increases, the tax credit decreases.

You can also claim a medical expense deduction to the extent that all medical expenses exceed five percent of your adjusted gross income.

Once you have a grasp of your parent's needs and have a financial plan in place to meet those needs, CPAs say both you and your parent can begin to enjoy a more financially secure future.

EXHIBITION OF LANDSCAPE PAINTINGS

The Whaling Museum announces the opening of THE DARTMOUTH SHORE: PAINTINGS BY LOUIS H. RICHARDSON on August 22nd. The paintings will be on view until October 3rd.

A lifelong resident of New Bedford, Louis H. Richardson earned a prominent place in the annals of local art, both as a painter and a founder of the New Bedford Art Club. Largely self-taught, he developed a distinctive style with which to record the delicate appearance of the woodlands, salt marshes and sandy beaches of the Dartmouth shore.
